Dear Customer,

We would like to inform you about several ongoing and upcoming developments that may affect container transport flows from the Port of Rijeka to Serbia by rail. These changes may impact transit times, train scheduling, and operational procedures related to container handling and inland transportation.

To support your planning and ensure full transparency, we would like to share the key updates outlined below and their potential impact on cargo movements across the Adriatic corridor.

Please find the details in the following sections.

Rijeka Gateway Port

- Terminal occupation and operations - under control

Import

Units in backlog – 2 days delay

Meaning - first train dedicated for berthed vessel is only loaded "X" days after vessel departure*

Export

- Terminal occupation and operations - under control

Upcoming closures and general info

We would like to inform you that the Meja–Škrljevo section was suspended in both directions from 01:25 to 12:00 on August 13, due to a fire. This disruption affected transport operations during this week, and we expect a swift normalization of traffic in the coming days.

Additionally, due to a difficult traffic situation on the route toward Šid and back, as well as high temperatures causing issues with locomotive operation and the infrastructure itself, transit times are longer than usual."

Currently, rail traffic is experiencing disruptions due to congestion at the Tovarnik–Šid border crossing, as a result, please expect deviations in arrivals.

Daily closures

- Hrvatski Leskovac–Karlovac from 01.08–31.08, Mon–Fri - Affects all trains to/from Rijeka. Closure planned for a few days/month, 6 hours each; official notice still pending
- Križevci – Koprivnica: from 1 September 2026, 0:01 a.m. until 6 September 2026, 11:59 p.m

Alternative routing exists for above closures, please expect longer transit time*

We appreciate your understanding and cooperation during these operational challenges. Our teams are working closely with partners to minimize disruptions and maintain service quality.
